

Allies Puzzled By Retreat Of Reds In Korea

Enemy May Be Up To Some Trickery

By TOM BRADSHAW
CENTRAL FRONT, KOREA—
(AP)—The big enigma of the Korean war—what goes on in the Chinese Communist military mind—grows more puzzling by the day.

One school of Allied front line thought holds that the Reds are in full-scale retreat—bordering on confusion as the United Nations push nears the 38th parallel.

Short Of Supplies
Another group says the Reds have something up their sleeve and are withdrawing for a purpose, leaving small pockets of resistance at vital points to fight delaying actions.

Those who go along with the disorganized withdrawal theory point to the number of Chinese who have surrendered lately. They recount prisoners' tales of Chinese hardships—shortages of food, medical supplies and ammunition. They cite the seizures of Red arms and equipment.

And they say no further proof is needed than the intricate system of defenses the Chinese have been giving up without a serious fight.

Some of these entrenchments are regarded by veteran Allied officers as the best they have seen—capable of holding out for an indefinite time.

Deception Indicated
Those who think the Red pull-back is leading up to something don't put so much stock in the Reds' abandonment of prepared defenses. They insist the Communist battle plan was changed after the bunkers and foxholes were finished.

They also discount the Chinese prisoners' stories as deliberate plants to deceive the Allies or as reports from soldiers who don't know what they're talking about.

A certain credence can be given this last argument. The Chinese have employed in the past second-line troops in the front line. Behind them are superior troops ready to take advantage of any breakthrough made by the scrub team.

The threat of a full-scale spring offensive by the Chinese has been hanging over United Nations armies for two weeks. It remains.

Tax Bills Come Out In Lansing

House Leaders Push
Good Roads Levies

LANSING—(AP)—The House of Representatives appears about ready to get its finger into the "who'll we tax now?" pie.

The predominantly rural House expected the Michigan good roads federation bills for higher highway taxes to come out of its committee this week and spark a second airing of the issues.

The Senate, which passed the program two weeks ago, has handled all the tax bills so far.

In line with the edict of a House Republican caucus, the good roads bills are expected to reappear in the form of a two-cents-a-gallon gasoline tax increase. The Senate voted one and one half cents increase. The tax now is three cents.

House leaders, mindful of the three-week temper-shatter battle in the Senate, vowed to get action on the road bills more promptly.

The Senate bill is holding back two tax bills on its final passage calendar awaiting tax policy decisions being debated between the governor and legislative leaders. One of a $3,000,000 a year increase in the corporation privilege tax. The other boosts the intangible tax $2,000,000 a year and pegs local governments' share at $10,000,000.

The Senate tomorrow will debate a measure forbidding the sale of intoxicants on Christmas eve and Christmas day. Sponsors of a proposal to ban Sunday sales of beer and wine were ready with a move to tack it on the Christmas drinking bill, having failed to make it stick in committee.

Western Minnesota Families Marooned By March Blizzard

(By The Associated Press)

The northern midwest was hanging on the ropes again today, virtually knocked out by another smashing blizzard.

Although the fury of the storm was not as widespread as the two earlier blizzards that already had hit the region this month, it was more intense in spots. In southern Minnesota, southeastern South Dakota and northern Iowa highway traffic was blocked in many places. Trains stalled in northern Iowa by mountainous snowdrifts.

Planes Bring Food
The storm left as much as 19 inches of new snow in the area. Winds up to 45 miles an hour whipped it into deep drifts which blocked highways that had been cleared only a few days earlier from the storm of a week ago. Many points reported two feet of old and new snow on the ground.

The storm began Saturday and continued through most of Sunday. It marooned scores of farm families in western Minnesota. Civil air patrol pilots made more than 50 flights yesterday from Wheaton, Minn. To carry provisions to the isolated region and to take two sick farmers and a baby to hospitals.

At St. Paul and Minneapolis, where the snowfall measured nearly 10 inches, airlines cancelled most of their flights. But lines had resumed some operations from there today, but secondary highways still were blocked.

Traffic Tied Up
A Northwest Airlines plane arriving from Portland, Ore., with 17 passengers and crewmen bogged down in a snowdrift on Wold Chamberlain field. But all the persons escaped injury.

In northern Iowa the storm caused the tightest traffic tie-up of the winter. About 40 or 50 counties were completely blocked Sunday by deep drifts which stalled an Illinois Central railroad freight train.

The train, marooned near Carnarvon, was rammed during the storm yesterday by another freight. The engine and six cars of the second train overturned in the collision and three crewmen were injured. Snow plow crews worked six hours getting to the scene so the injured crewmen could be removed to a hospital at Carroll.

The storm spread over eastern Nebraska, which also reported some blocked roads, northern Wisconsin, western Upper Michigan, and the east part of the Dakotas.

Lapeer County Gets Set For Farm Battle

Fighting Brothers
Resist Eviction

LAPEER, Mich. — (AP) — Both sides mapped strategy today for the impending "battle of Fort Ziegenhardt."

The rest of the struggle for a 240-acre tract of rich farmland near here may be peaceful or violent—but law authorities and the fighting Ziegenhardt brothers will be prepared for either.

Lapeer county Sheriff Leslie Mathews met today with State Police Commissioner Donald S. Leonard to figure out how best they could evict the brothers—Chris, 72, Paul, 70, and Fred, 64—from the property they owned for years but lost to the state for failure to pay an assessment for a bankrupt insurance firm.

Neighbors To Help
But the Ziegenhardt's neighbors kept a close eye on the farm and its front-yard fortress, ready to move in and help defend it.

The wide interest stirred up by the battle was evident yesterday as a steady stream of cars passed the property and several hundred persons had a look at the embattled farm. Few drivers stopped on the muddy road leading to the farm.

Russian Forces Not Invincible

Red Armed Strength
Around 2,800,000

By JOHN RODERICK
LONDON — (AP) — Britain's war office last night estimated Russian and Communist Chinese armed forces together at 8,000,000 men. War Minister John Strachey set the Soviet ground army at 2,800,000 soldiers—a "very large" peacetime mobilization but "not the incredibly vast force which some people seem to fear."

Strachey, speaking at Dundee, and a war office release of hitherto-secret intelligence reports in effect refuted a formal Russian note to Britain Feb. 24 in which the Kremlin claimed it had little more than 2,500,000 men under arms.

Instead, the British estimated the two major Communist nations each has about 4,000,000 weapon-wielders—including army, navy, air force, and internal security troops. The statement, however, made no reference to the Russian vote.

The war office opened its files, Strachey explained, to dispell "the dangers of ignorance." "It is not the case," he said "that the Russian forces are invincible and invulnerable."

The U. S. Senate foreign relations committee reported last month that the Atlantic pact powers have 4,476,000 men under arms and 2,600,000 in the ground forces.

The Soviet private, the report said, gets about 24 cents a day and "poor" rations. A Russian general in occupied Europe draws about $19,600 a year, but must kick back a "voluntary" contribution to the party. The Chinese soldier gets about 35 cents a month and a plot of land in his home town.

Easter Recess May Hold Up Action On Troops-To-Europe

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A prospective Easter recess today threatened to foul up Senate leaders' hopes for quick action on a troops-to-Europe resolution.

Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) called for speedy passage of pending resolutions to "lift the morale of our Allies in the North Atlantic and create unity and confidence among the American people."

Fight Predicted
Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic leader, said he hopes the Senate will agree to limit debate and vote on the issue by Thursday. He promised an Easter recess if that happens.

But Senator Malone (R-Nev.), an opponent of the resolutions, predicted to a reporter that a walk-out of senators will leave the Senate stranded without a quorum before the weekend and will shut off any action for several days after that.

"What does McFarland think we are, a bunch of children?" Malone asked. "Does he think we'll agree to repeal the constitution?"

New York's Ex-Mayor Quizzed On Tammany Link With Underworld

By AL PARKS and JIM DEVLIN

NEW YORK — (AP) — Former Mayor William O'Dwyer today made his eagerly-awaited appearance before the U. S. Senate committee investigating possible links between politics and the underworld.

Senator Kefauver said "the question about Saratoga has been left somewhat up in the air" by testimony last Friday concerning wide-open gambling in the upstate New York resort.

O'Dwyer began his testimony by declaring he became a member of the New York City police force in 1917 and that at that time "crime was more or less localized."

"Then prohibition came into the picture," he said. "Prohibition, gentlemen, has left its mark on our nation."

Slums Blamed
O'Dwyer, who had promised a factual picture on crime in New York, said prohibition was "jammed down the neck of the people by a few legislators and a few supporters."

The people had the "utmost disrespect of the law," he said. Then he said the slums were in a great measure responsible for filling jails.

"All the meanness, bad health, lack of decent homes, comes from where?" he asked. "You bottle people up in slums. That leaves you just one answer. You get the census of your jails."

Indians' Vision Eludes Girl, 14

Hill Fasting Fails
To Fulfill Legend

PALO ALTO, Calif. — (AP) — A 14-year-old girl came down from the Los Altos hills yesterday, and back to the land of the white man after trying for two days to find fulfillment of an Indian legend.

Edris Isaksen did not find her "vision dream." And, she said, she was still "as mixed up as ever." Mrs. Jeanette R. Miller, the junior high school student's mother, explained her daughter had read a lot of Indian lore as she planned to be an archeologist. Edris recently wrote a prize essay on the Inca Indians of South America. The girl said she had read 500 books about Indian lore. Somewhere in her reading, she ran across the Hananadapi legend, which tells of a "dream vision" that comes to Indian maidens sent alone and without food into the mountains. According to legend, the vision must be seen before she reaches her 15th year.

Edris left her Palo Alto home early Friday morning. She had written her mother a note, saying: "I have gone somewhere for my Hananadapi. I won't be back for four days at least. Please don't try to stop me. I am prepared for punishment when I get back but if I don't go I will have to try again as this is my 14th year."

Sunday morning, after two days of fasting and seclusion, she phoned her mother that she was ready to come home. She was hungry.

Spring Arrives Wednesday, But Cold Lingers On

(By The Associated Press)

Snow, falling over much of Michigan today, may let up by spring—5:26 a. m. Wednesday—but the nippy temperatures will not.

At least that was the forecast of the U. S. weather bureau as of today.

Snowfall ranged from an inch in the Detroit area to five inches overnight in the western sector of the Upper Peninsula. Grand Rapids, Pontiac and many other points in between got traces of snow showers.

Overnight lows dipped below freezing almost everywhere, and still colder weather was reported en route to the Upper Michigan.

College Brawl Loosens Teeth

Dartmouth-Harvard
Men Battle Police

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. — (AP) — Harvard men, Dartmouth men and Cambridge police clashed yesterday in a pre-spring free-for-all which loosened a few teeth and bruised a few knuckles all because some unidentified little man said collegians are "stupid."

A brawl which started with horseplay in a Harvard Square restaurant ended a few minutes later on the sidewalk when police grabbed two men of Dartmouth and three of Harvard and arrested them.

One of the Dartmouth men had to have hospital treatment and three policemen were given aid for injuries ranging from a wrenched back to a sprained little finger.

Restaurant witnesses said this is what happened: Two of the collegians got into a "friendly argument" which ripened into horseplay and some harmless wrestling involving a tray of dishes. It was good clean fun "a little man" said out loud "something about the stupidity of students."

Several students demanded an apology of the little man. His answer was to send his wife to call police.

When police arrived a fair-sized mixup was underway and police claim the collegians charged them.

Senator Vandenberg's Condition Unchanged

GRAND RAPIDS — (AP) — The condition of Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg remained serious and unchanged today.

His physician, Dr. A. B. Smith, said there had been "no change" since last night's report that Vandenberg had shown no improvement in the preceding 24 hours.

Turkey And Greece Needed As Link In European Defense

By ELTON C. FAY

(Associated Press Military Writer)

WASHINGTON — (AP) — An urgent recommendation from top diplomats in the Middle East that the Atlantic treaty nations act quickly on the question of bringing Turkey and Greece into the organization is riveting allied interest on the crucial southern flank of the European defense system.

Spain Offers Troops
Several recent developments, it was learned today, point up the new attention being given to securing the southern anchor of the European line. These include:

1. Reports that Spain has told the U. S. it would send troops to the defense of Western Europe provided they receive American arms.

2. Assurance by Washington to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, supreme allied commander, that the U. S. 6th fleet in the Mediterranean is ready for any mission in support of the southern end of his European defense system.

3. Concern over native unrest in Middle East and North African areas. This latter may very well speed decisions on American policy on the whole Mediterranean-Middle East security question.

Holding Line Only 17 Miles From Boundary

Communists Give Up
Chuncheon Base

By OLEN CLEMENTS
TOKYO — (AP) — Allied patrols probed within a few miles of the 38th parallel in Korea today.

Strong U. S. Eighth Army forces set up a holding line only 17 miles south of that politically sensitive boundary.

The army, breaking a three-day silence, announced "holding elements are 17 miles from the 38th parallel at five points." It did not locate the points and said it would not. Holding elements presumably are capable of holding their ground against heavy attack.

Enemy Out of Sight
The brief announcement said patrols were operating "miles north" of the five points and in all other sectors. It did not say how many miles.

Parallel 38, which cuts across Korea about in the center, has been the arbitrary dividing line between Communist north and Republican South Korea since the end of World War II.

North Koreans stabbed across the line June 25 and touched off the current fighting. United Nations forces pushed them back across the parallel.

Then the allies were forced south of the line by overwhelm-

Cuban Leaders Named In Fraud

Ex-President Denies
$40,000,000 Theft

HAVANA, Cuba — (AP) — Two-time Cuban president Ramon Grau San Martin stood accused today of "principal responsibility" in the alleged theft or misappropriation of more than $40,000,000 of government money.

Judge Federico Justiniani, after many months investigation of charges that Grau's regime mis-handled more than $174,000,000 in government funds, over the weekend indicted the former president and 10 close associates during his 1944-48 presidential term on charges of criminal responsibility.

Grau was not ordered to prison because he twice had occupied the presidential chair, the first time from Sept. 10, 1933, until Jan. 15, 1934. He was required to post bond to cover civil responsibility on the $40,000,000, however.

No comment was immediately forthcoming from Grau on the indictment. In the past he and his followers have denied the accusations, terming them maneuvers by their political opponents. Grau and Cuba's present president, Carlos Prío Socarras, had been friends for many years but split in a political dispute after Prío took office in 1948.

Deliver 9,000 Delta Ballots

Prepare For Spring Election April 2

Delivery of a total 9,000 state ballots to city and township clerks in Delta county in preparation for the April 2 biennial spring election is being completed today by County Clerk Mary Constantineau.

Escanaba received 4,350 ballots, Gladstone 1,250, and the remainder were delivered to the townships.

Voters will receive three state ballots at the spring election: A non-partisan ballot to elect a supreme court justice; a ballot on which are the names of political party candidates for regents of the University of Michigan, superintendent of public instruction, member of the state board of education, and members of the state board of agriculture; and a ballot with three proposed amendments to the state constitution.

The Democratic party of Michigan has nominated a Delta county man, Atty. Wheaton L. Strom of Escanaba, as one of its two candidates for regent of the University of Michigan.

Escanaba city has no election this spring. Gladstone will elect a justice of the peace and a city commissioner in a no-contest election.

Each of the 14 townships in Delta county will elect officers for two-year terms, including supervisor, clerk, treasurer, and other members of the township board. There are ballot contests in several townships.

Newspaper's Story Is Told To Rotary

The story of a newspaper's service to its community was presented to the Escanaba Rotary club at its meeting today noon at the Delta hotel by the Escanaba Daily Press.

A moving picture depicting the development of a story from the happening in the community to the story in print was presented. The film is released through Encyclopedia Britannica film service. It will also be shown tonight to the Lions club.

Clifford Roberts, head of the Escanaba city school's audio-visual department, operated the projector.

15 States Represented On 'M' Symphony Band

Fifteen states are represented in the 1951 personnel of the University of Michigan Symphony Band.

The band, under the direction of William D. Revelli, will present a concert at the William Oliver Memorial Auditorium in the Escanaba junior high school on Thursday, April 12 at 8:15 p. m. The Symphony band is one of three units in the University of Michigan bands. The Marching band performs at football games. The Symphony band functions all year long as a concert unit. The third group is the Varsity Band which is featured at basketball games and usually gives two or more concerts in the Spring. The Varsity band serves as a training unit to feed members to the other two bands.

The three units provide an opportunity for interested musicians to perform, whether they are enrolled in the school of music or the other units of the University. Besides thousands of pieces of band music in the Harris hall library, the Michigan bands also keep up to date on the new selections. Through the years, the Michigan bands have been chosen by composers to premiere new and important works in the field of band literature. It is almost literally true that the ink is hardly dry on a piece of new band music before it is in the Harris hall files.

Words of praise from authorities in the field of music have been pouring in on the Symphony and Marching bands. The famous New York bandmaster, Dr. Edwin Franko Goldman, has said, "The University of Michigan Symphony bands stands without a peer among college bands." Don Gillis, program director of the NBC

Symphony orchestra concerts, recently called the Symphony band "the finest in the entire world." During the season just passed, the Marching band earned the title of "transcontinental band" since it appeared in New York City at the Michigan-Army game on Oct. 14 and in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena on Jan. 1. Sports writers on both coasts were impressed with the band's marching and musical ability.

Additional praise for the Marching band came from Life magazine which labeled it as one of the nation's greatest bands in a picture story published late last October. And further honors will be achieved this year when the band is featured in a documentary movie.

Big Bay Gets Electric Line

Alger-Delta REA Provides Service

BIG BAY—Twenty-five families in this area knew the conveniences of electricity for the first time since Thomas Edison invented the incandescent lamp on Oct. 21, 1879.

They were part of 40 subscribers whose home were equipped with electrical power when the Alger-Delta Cooperative Electrical Association "energized" its lines to Big Bay on Thursday and Friday.

Approximately 100 additional homes will be equipped with association-supplied power during next week. Ultimately, 250 subscribers in this area will be served by the association.

Decision to install the power line, which extends from the Marquette metering point at Ahonon's crossing north along County Road 530 into Big Bay, was taken after the Ford Motor company, which had been supplying power to Big Bay consumers, decided to shut down its lumber mill here last June because of depleted timber resources. Ford has continued to serve some of its Big Bay consumers until they were able to receive power from the Alger-Delta firm.

Kin Of Rockefeller Asphyxiated In Auto With Two Daughters

GREENWICH, Conn. — (AP) — Mrs. Winifred Rockefeller Emeny, a grand-niece of the late John D. Rockefeller, and two of her daughters were found dead Thursday night in the garage of their home here.

Police said the socialite wife of Brooks Emeny, president of the Foreign Policy Association, locked herself and her daughters, Winifred, 12, and Josephine, 6, in the garage and started the motor of one of the three cars in the building.

Police Captain David W. Robbins said the triple tragedy was undoubtedly murder and suicide. Dr. C. Stanley Knapp said the deaths were due to carbon monoxide poisoning.

Captain Robbins said Mrs. Emeny underwent treatment for a nervous disorder last summer. An older daughter, Faith, is with her father on a lecture tour in the Midwest.

Icebreakers Ready To Enter Harbor Tuesday

Escanaba was poised today for the opening of the 1951 navigation season as the Coast Guard cutters Mackinaw and Woodbine moved toward St. Martin's island in readiness to break channels into the local harbor tomorrow.

Last year the Mackinaw arrived in Escanaba April 9 and ore shipping began April 19.

Today commercial fishermen were pulling nets and clearing the way for the anticipated arrival of the Coast Guard cutters. They have been informed the Mackinaw and Woodbine are to meet tonight at St. Martin's island and move through bay ice to Escanaba starting tomorrow morning.

Ore On Its Way
The first loading of iron ore at the mines on the Menominee range was started today, with arrival of the first train of ore at Escanaba expected by Wednesday or Thursday.

So far there is no definite arrival date set for the first ore carrier at Escanaba, annually the first ore port to open on the Great Lakes.

Inquiries from shippers previously indicated the first boat might be here Saturday, March 24, according to Lee McMillan, Chicago & North Western dock agent.

Bay Ice Moving
Ore loadings were started today at the Sherwood mine, operated by Inland Steel, and the Davidson, owned by Pickands Mining company, near Iron River. Loading at the Buck, James, and Zimmerman mines will begin Wednesday. The M. A. Hanft company also plans to start this week.

Only pocket shipments will be made, railroad and mining men said, and the power shovels will be in operation at the stockpiles within two weeks. Shipments will depend on the speed with which boat carriers arrive at the two C. & N. W. docks at Escanaba. Escanaba commercial fishermen said there is open water visible from Minneapolis Shoal (12 miles south of Escanaba) southerly, with bay ice broke and moving out into Lake Michigan. Only the ice in Little and Big Bays de Noc holds solid.

Good Smelt Catches
Fishing has continued without interruption all winter. The smelt take has been exceptionally heavy in the past four or five days. Roy Jensen of the Jensen & Jensen market today said an estimated 30,000 pounds of smelt were netted in local waters yesterday.

Anton Jesson, officer in charge of the Minneapolis Shoal light-house, and his crew today were preparing to leave at a moment's notice to put the light in commission for the season. They might be taken to the light on one of the Coast Guard cutters. The Escanaba light has been operating for several days.

The opening of navigation here this year will be one of the earliest in several years. Other yearly openings were March 23 in 1949 and March 19 in 1943.

Last season a total 5,007,221 tons of ore were shipped from Escanaba, the largest "peacetime" tonnage for any year since 1929.

It has been estimated that the solid crust of the earth is 36 miles thick, thinner proportionately to the size of the earth than an egg shell is to the size of an egg.

FORD WINS AGAIN!

V-8 TAKES FIRST PLACE IN CLASS "A" 1951 MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN

Both Ford V-8 and SIX
Deliver more than 25.9 miles per gallon

Gruelling 840-mile test proves Ford Economy

Again this year... it's high honors for Ford! In the most important economy trial for American stock model cars... the famous annual Mobilgas Economy Run... a Ford 100-h.p. V-8 equipped with Overdrive took first place competing against all cars in its price class, making 54.587 ton-miles per gallon* and 25.994 miles per gallon. And its companion in quality, the new Ford SIX with Overdrive, was right up there with the winner. In fact, both cars averaged better than 25.9 miles per gallon.

Traditional Ford economy, for the second straight year, has been proved in open competition. Proved on the tough 840-mile grind from Los Angeles to the Grand Canyon... a course that included city traffic, below-sea-level desert heat and 7,000-foot mountain passes. Ford's Automatic Mileage Maker, standard equipment on all Ford V-8's and SIXES, contributed to this great achievement by squeezing the last mile out of every drop of gasoline.

Why not "Test Drive" the new Ford at your neighborhood Ford Dealer's? There's no better way to be convinced that "You can pay more but you can't buy better!"

*The AAA Cost Book determines the winner by a "ton-mile per gallon" formula to insure equal chance for all cars in each class regardless of size and weight. Ton-miles per gallon equals the car weight (including passengers) in tons, multiplied by number of miles travelled, divided by number of gallons of gasoline consumed.

25,000 Use Indoor Rink

Grabowski Reports Record Is Set

Almost 25,000 persons used the fairgrounds indoor ice rink this winter, either as spectators or participants, Manager Robert J. Grabowski said today.

Attendance at Escanaba Hawks hockey games totaled 9,905; the Ice Revue drew 6,190 and public skating drew 1,421, totaling 17,516.

Add to this the use of the rink for junior hockey practice and games, Ice Revue and Hawks rehearsals, Grabowski said, and total use for the year was 24,072 persons.

This figure surpasses attendance of all previous years, Grabowski said.

Atlantic Economic Sphere is Worthwhile

WHEN the Marshall Plan was conceived, one great objective was the economic unity of the participating European nations. Throughout the life of ECA that goal has been repeatedly emphasized by ECA officials and American lawmakers. But the solid achievement in that direction has not been great.

The really significant advance is the so-called European Payments Union approved last year. This is a system under which monetary barriers between countries are lowered to facilitate a better flow of trade across boundaries.

Beyond that, progress has been limited to the experience in coordinated planning acquired by Marshall plan nations in laying out jointly their recovery needs during the past three years. It is evident that not much is going to be done unless some new element of compulsion or encouragement is brought into the picture.

War or the continuing fear of it could be that factor. To support General Eisenhower's new European defense army, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has created a unified defense production unit under an American, W. Rogers Herod, head of the International General Electric Corp. The necessities of unified defense might bring the treaty nations together economically in a fashion they'd never consider in normal times.

The size of Eisenhower's forces in the next two years will have much to do with how ambitious a joint economic effort must be made.

If that should not provide a big enough push toward economic integration of Europe, there is another possible approach. Some Americans are suggesting that Europe's economy be integrated not as a distinct unit but as part of a larger sphere that would include the United States and Canada.

The feeling of these men is that national barriers of language, custom, narrow economic self-interest are so strong that the European countries simply won't undertake unity if left to themselves. Woven into what would be an Atlantic economic community, with trading prospects brighter, the Europeans might be much more willing to see the old tariff barriers and other obstacles torn down.

We are Europe's best customer and she is ours, so the trade relationship is a natural one. Brought into this larger economic realm, Europe would more likely modernize its capitalist practices which now are so badly outmoded. (Socialist nations would present a special problem.)

This runs the case for Atlantic economic integration. The merit of the argument hasn't been fully debated, and it needs plenty of airing from all angles.

This nation would have to undergo some striking economic shifts itself to accommodate free trade arrangements with Europe. Some industries would suffer, and a great howl would go up in Congress.

But the least we can do is think about it earnestly, since aside from unity through defense effort, it's the only idea for promoting Europe's integration that has come along in many a day. Something is certainly needed to get the West off its present dead center on the unity issue.

Quit Hoarding Penny Coins, Gov't Asks

IT'S true that a penny will not buy much these days of inflation but the demand for the copper coins is still terrific. In fact, the demand is so great that the government is worried about it.

The manufacture of penny coins requires the use of great quantities of copper, and copper is a strategic metal in short supply. Already stringent restrictions have been placed on its use in order to conserve the supply for the rearmament program.

It is common knowledge that literally billions of copper pennies are laying idle in piggy banks throughout the nation. Uncle Sam is asking the citizenry to quit hoarding them and to put them back into the pipelines of commerce.

It can be done without impairing the habit of thrift. Simply change the pennies in the piggy bank for coins of greater value and turn the pennies into your local bank. That will relieve the pressure for minting more penny coins for commercial use and will save precious copper for other purposes.

Unless this is done, it is probable that further restrictions on the civilian use of copper will be necessary.

Men of great responsibility are often rushed for time, and they think that folks who pester them are guilty of a crime. Such may be the case for those who do a big important job, but it doesn't hold for would-be kings who frown upon the mob. Like the guy with secretaries who surround him like a wall, when you telephone his office and you're quizzed about your call.

First you merely say you'd like to do some talking with the boss, and at once you get the third degree which throws you for a loss. What's your name and what's your business, was your call expected now, did you ask for an appointment, what's so urgent anyway? Please explain just why you think you rate some words with Mister Snoot—when you speak his name be sure that you remember to salute.

So at last you lose your temper and you tell the office gal, she can go and soak her head, as can her dear employer pal, who is likely not so busy that he can't pick up his phone, for a message which contains news he'll later wish he'd known. For there's nothing makes you madder than the lady out in front, who will take your call and answer: "Who are you and whatcha want?"

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

FRANKFORT — At the same time that the West Germans want more American troops to protect them against the threat of the Red army, a steady stream of strategic materials is rolling out of Germany to help arm that Red army.

This secret aid to Russia does not represent the real sentiment of the West German people or their new Bonn government. But it does represent the sell-both-sides-down-the-river attitude of the big industrialists. These are the same industrialists who coaxed up to Hitler and made his rearmament possible, also the same industrialists who now want to sabotage the Schuman plan for cooperative operation of the Ruhr iron and steel industry—the most peace-insuring proposal ever made for Europe.

Here are a few examples of how German big business is cutting its country's own throat by aiding the Communists:

Up to May 10, 1950, all exports of German machinery were controlled by the Allied high commission. On that date, however, the orders were relaxed and the Bonn government was given export control. Significantly, during the first 21 days after May 10, more ball bearings and more rubber compounds were sent to the Russian satellites than had been smuggled out in the previous five months. Also huge quantities of carbon black, precious nickel, lead, crude iron and big iron were exported—much of it going to Communist Hungary.

SHIPPED TO REDS

These shipments continued in June, totaling twice as much as in May—even though May had set a record and even though the German government had previously agreed to ban these shipments.

Finally, High Commissioner McCloy caught one barefaced shipment of American army trucks to Communist Hungary. Nine thousand surplus trucks had been acquired by Truck and Spare Motor Vehicles Ltd. for $314 each. This was a legitimate sale by STEG, the agency which sells American army surplus. But Truck and Spare Motor Vehicles Ltd. turned around and sold 356 army trucks to Hungary, making the sale with an official O. K. from the German government, despite the fact that this was against the regulations surrounding the sale of U. S. property.

Fortunately, alert American troops on the German border got suspicious and stopped the truck shipment. It never reached Hungary.

"INSURANCE" WITH REDS

Meanwhile, Tell Berna of the National Machine Tool Builders association of Cleveland reports that machine-tool plants in Western Germany, financed by the Marshall plan, are shipping vital machine tools both to Russia and its satellites. "Tanks in North Korea," he said, "may have been made on machine tools produced by ECA money."

In Munich also, the American-published newspaper Neue Zeitung quoted the U. S. high commissioner for Bavaria, George Shuster, on leave as president of Hunter College in New York, that the Ruhr industrialists were taking out insurance with the Communist party and that the coffers of the Communist party were filled with their money.

U. S. officials have now informed the German government that they are distressed by leaks of strategic material to Russia and have called on Chancellor Adenauer to have them stopped.

"SOFT AND SENTIMENTAL"

In the winter of 1945, as the Russian and American armies were advancing toward Berlin, I happened to be talking to Robert Patterson, the undersecretary of war, when he remarked: "I hope the Red army gets there first and executes about 20,000 of Germany's top leaders. If we get there first we'll wait, get soft and sentimental, and then let them go scot free."

The other day the same Bob Patterson came to Germany to carry out his own prediction. He had got soft and sentimental toward the German cartel owners who had armed Hitler and who are now shipping goods covertly to Russia. However, Patterson's sentimentality for German industrialists was also influenced by a fee. He was being paid by them to come to Germany to influence his former subordinate in the war department, John J. McCloy, now high commissioner to Germany, and to undercut the Schuman plan.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby Jr.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

Q. Recently, on my radio, an army surgeon used the word "cosmetic" in connection with plastic surgery to restore the disfigured faces of wounded servicemen. We are greatly puzzled. Was it just a slip of the tongue?

A. It's hard to believe, but the primary and literal meaning of cosmetic is "that which adorns or decorates." The original Greek word, kosmetikos, means "one skilled in adorning." In ancient Rome, the word cosmes designated, "the slave who has charge of the wardrobe and toiletries of his mistress."

Thus we see that "cosmetics," in the meaning of "make-ups," is only figurative. In medical language, the term cosmetology is used to describe the performing of "cosmetic operations," i. e., restoring scarred or burned areas to normal appearance.

Q. What is the origin of the phrase, "mad as a hatter"? We in this family can think only of the Mad Hatter in Alice in Wonderland. Is that it?

A. "Mad as a hatter" was a popular expression before Lewis Carroll wrote of Alice's adventures in Wonderland, and the expression doubtless suggested the character of the Mad Hatter. That this theory is logical is shown by Carroll's creation of the March Hare, another member of the delightfully insane tea party which Alice attended. The expression, "As mad as a March hare" has been in common use since the 14th century.

Discovery Of Red Arms Caches Airst Revolt In Italian Communist Party

By JULIUS HUMI
NEA Staff Correspondent

ROME—The discovery by the Italian police of large Communist caches of arms throws new light on the operation of the Communist secret military shock troops.

Italy's Minister of the Interior Mario Scelba has long been aware of the widespread underground activities of the Red underground troops in northern Italy and southern France. Since 1947 he has been on the lookout for their hidden arms dumps.

VALDO MAGNANI: Not so much "Titoism" . . .

The fact that most of the caches are now being discovered backs up reports that the pro-nationalist revolt in the Italian Communist Party is spreading to the Cominform's secret military organization.

ALDO CUCCINI: as old-fashioned nationalism.

Scelba recently reported to the Italian Chamber of Deputies that between January, 1947, and June, 1950, police had seized the following quantities of Communist war material:

Sixty-six pieces of field artillery; 344 mortars; 1543 heavy machine guns; 2302 light machine guns; 6444 Tommy guns; more than 42,000 rifles; more than 102,000 hand grenades; 244 tons of high explosives; 237 radio transmitting stations, and more than 10,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

The Italian police recently found two more Communist arms dumps. A squad of mine detectors uncovered one in two walled-up rooms of a cellar under the Pirelli rubber works in Milan. The second was in caves on the outskirts of Genoa, where police said they found rifles branded with a Red star.

These arms were apparently earmarked for Albania for use by guerrillas now operating on the Yugoslav and Greek borders.

Meanwhile, the rift in Italian communism caused by the dramatic resignation from the Party of Deputies Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cuccini, chiefs of the highly industrialized and traditionally Re-Emilio region, is growing. Despite Cominform charges, the revolt seems to be inspired less by "Titoism" than by good, old-fashioned nationalism and love of the country. It also indicates a profound change in the program—if not the structure—of the Cominform.

As in France and elsewhere in Western Europe, a bitter struggle is now going on inside the Italian

Communist Party between a military-minded "direct action" group and a "moderate" group of parliamentarians.

The "direct action" group is led by Moscow-trained Luigi Longo, said to be a Soviet citizen. The "moderate" group is represented, among others, by Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cuccini.

Though the Red revolt seems to be confined for the present to Communist intellectuals and former anti-fascist partisans, Moscow is obviously worried.

Italy's Red boss, Palmiro Togliatti, just interrupted a "rest-cure" vacation in the Soviet Union to rush to Rome. At the same time, Communist terrorist "Vigilance Committees" are swinging into action throughout Italy to nip the "nationalist contagion" in the bud.

But according to the novelist Ignazio Silone, leader of the anti-Communist Unitarian Socialist Party, approximately 10,000 Communists have quit the Party since the recent resignation of Magnani and Cuccini.

The Play's The Thing At Stratford on Avon

Against the backdrop of a jittery world, Stratford on Avon is a quiet stage where people of diverse nations still meet in quaint streets, and all the town agrees, "The play's the thing."

In that ancient market town near the heart of England, notes the National Geographic Society, carpenters and masons are now completing a quarter-million-dollar addition to the famed Shakespeare Memorial Theater. On March 24 the footlights go up for the longest festival season in Stratford's history—seven months of the immortal bard's dramas, played in a literary mecca that has no peer.

Until autumn's leaves are down and dead, Stratford on Avon will be a town dedicated to a man it once called "de-er-do-well"—"fallen into the bad company of actors." On April 23, the flags of many countries around the globe will be unfurled, honoring the 387th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth. Pilgrims from near and distant lands will form an unending summer army, come to see a town little changed since Elizabethan times.

'New Place' on Ancient Streets
Bookshops march in mellowed brick along Stratford's narrow historic streets, elbowing for space with inns of diamond-paned windows and houses of blackened timbers, heavy-beamed, with gabled ends and leaning sides.

From the half-timbered house on Henley street where Shakespeare was born to the quiet church where he is buried runs the path trod by a traditional birthday procession carrying flowered wreaths. Here is the house where John Harvard's mother lived, there the school where Shakespeare and Ovid met. Beyond is the site of New Place, home of Shakespeare's retirement, now a garden hard by the ancient white tower of the Guild Chapel.

Stratford on Avon has kept quiet state over a meadowed countryside and placid river since yeomen tilled Warwickshire fields in the time of Richard the Lion-Hearted. Coins of the Caesars have been found along tree-covered lanes evidence that a Roman road may have run near by. The earliest Bishops of Worcester, succeeded by the charitable Guild of the Holy Cross, gave protection to the town until King Edward VI granted its burghers a charter in 1553, eleven years before Shakespeare's birth.

Curtain on the Avon

There have been Shakespearean festivals in the country town since 1769, when the actor David Garrick sponsored a jubilee complete with fireworks and dancing—but no play-acting. London theater companies still laughed at the notion of giving performances "in the sticks." But Stratford on Avon slowly awoke to the fact it had sired a prodigy, and the town's name and fame grew with the years.

In 1879 a theater opened its doors by the river bank, dedicated to giving Shakespeare's plays as a living memorial. The building, modeled after London's early Globe Theater, was an ugly roundhouse of yellow and red. When it burned to the ground in 1926, George Bernard Shaw sent a telegram to the governors: "Congratulations. You must be delighted." But it established a tradition that has lived nearly a century.

America gave more than half of a million-dollar fund for rebuilding the Memorial Theater, and a modern towered structure of brick opened in 1932. Since then thousands of Americans have visited Stratford on Avon, paying homage to a man of England who touched humanity's heart, and who seems to be saying still:

"Let Rome in Tiber melt, and the wide arch Of the rang'd empire fall! Here is my space."

FAGING MAYOR LOGAN — At last week's Escanaba city council meeting one of the constituents of Mayor Peter N. Logan, listening to the council meeting broadcast, thought there must be skulduggery afoot at the city hall.

Answering the insistent ringing of the telephone, Councilman Robert E. LeMire was questioned by the constituent as to what they meant down there at city hall holding a council meeting when Mayor Logan was absent. Councilman LeMire explained that Mayor Pete was attending another important meeting, could not be at city hall, and that it was right and proper that a council meeting be held with a quorum present and Councilman Guy Knutsen, mayor pro tem, presiding.

Whether the constituent was satisfied with the explanation isn't known. It was one of those situations that develops when council meetings are broadcast—a healthy sign of interest from one listener at least.

Note: Mayor Logan was at the House of Ludington attending a meeting of the Delta County Planning Committee, where discussions were held on topics of county-wide interest.

THE OPEN LETTER—O. L. Raymond of Escanaba, after reading accounts of Theodore F. "Ted" Kessler's woods adventure of last weekend, writes an open letter to Ted:

"Dear Friend: Sorry to hear you were lost in the woods and snowshoed 30 miles to find no way out until you met a lumberjack—and all that time you had a compass in your pocket!"

"But if you didn't have a compass, a pocket knife would do. Place the tip of the knife on your thumbnail and there will be a shadow behind it opposite the sun, even if the sun is hidden by clouds. Do this every 8 rods or so or you may get turned around again. Take this advice from an old lumberjack."

NOT SO FUNNY—Ted stopped in at the Daily Press office to pay his respects the same day the letter was received from Raymond. He read it and shook his head.

"I suppose I'll get plenty of kidding from the boys," he observed. "But I can take it if they can stand hearing me tell them the story."

You see, Ted wasn't lost all the time. Not by any means. He reported he came out to the road (icy and untraveled) at least three times and turned back into the woods, convinced he could find the Albert "Ziggy" Olson camp where he had been staying.

THE HELPING VOICE—Except for a couple blisters from the long-distance snowshoeing for two days, Ted is none the worse for his experience. He looks hale and hearty and ready for another adventure.

While alone at the Olson camp on the night before his adventure started, Ted said there came into his mind the thought that tomorrow when he went out to cut cedar browse to feed the starving young deer he should wear his jacket. Before this he had worn only a woolen shirt, for the deer yard was only a short distance away.

The next afternoon he did wear the jacket—and without it he would have been in real trouble. The jacket not only kept him warm while he was lost for two nights, but in the pocket was his compass and some matches.

"It makes you wonder when people start talking about the occult," he said. "Something told me to wear that jacket. It was almost as if I could hear a warning voice."

NOT THE FIRST—Ted Kessler is not the first man to become lost in the woods. In his case his friends were not alarmed. They knew him as woodswise and able to take care of himself. He was nearing camp again when overtaken.

We asked him about following the tip always given by the experts: When you are lost sit down and wait until you are found.

"I know," Ted replied, "they say its like playing solitaire. Haul out a pack of cards and start a game of solitaire—and the first thing you know somebody will look over your shoulder and tell which card to play."

State Cutting Some Timber

Steam Improvement Work Is Planned

Conservation department field crews have ended winter logging near Iron River but will continue at four locations as long as possible to get 500,000 board feet of timber for lake and stream improvement work.

Finished is the salvage of logs, blown down two years ago, on the grounds of the Cooks Run fish rearing station. Stems still are salvaging "blow down" hemlock in the Porcupine Mountains state park.

Jack pine logs are being stockpiled following selective cutting and thinning operations in the Pigeon River, Au Sable and Fife Lake state forests.

Field crews of the department's fish division will switch to tree planting as soon as weather permits. Pine seedlings and willow cuttings will be planted to provide stream shade and control bank erosion.

Allegan Jailbreaker Almost Loses Both Feet By Frostbite

ALLEGAN—(P)—Alfred Elsenheimer's jail break came dangerously near costing him the loss of both feet.

The 55-year-old Plainwell man who spent four days hiding out in the woods last week is suffering from a severe case of frostbite in both feet.

Sheriff Louis Johnson said doctors now believe, however, that amputation will not be necessary.

Elsenheimer and a companion sawed through the bars of their cells. The companion was captured on the jail roof, but Elsenheimer escaped. He is being held on a morals charge.

Building To House State Records Gets Approval In Lansing

LANSING — (P)—A proposal for a $250,000 building to house state records now has the tentative approval of a joint legislative committee.

The state office building committee, created to plan new state building, asked the state building division to draw up plans for the structure.

Rep. Eugene C. Betz (R-Monroe), said the group visualized a low-cost building with at least 20,000 square feet of floor space. If approved, the building probably would be built on low-cost land owned by the state.

One-Man Boats New Shop Project At Grand Marais

GRAND MARAIS—One of the most interesting shop projects in progress at Grand Marais high school at present is construction of a number of one-man boats.

The one-man boat was designed by the shop instructor, Charles Hess, in answer to the students' request for an inexpensive boat to be used for fishing in out of the way lakes far from any highway.

The boats are of light weight construction, styled after the Eskimo's kayak and may easily be carried, portage style, by one boy. They are approximately six feet in length with a wood and plywood case covered by canvas that will be thoroughly waterproofed. At this time there are five of the boats in various stages of construction, two nearing completion.

Atlantic Economic Sphere is Worthwhile

WHEN the Marshall Plan was conceived, one great objective was the economic unity of the participating European nations. Throughout the life of ECA that goal has been repeatedly emphasized by ECA officials and American lawmakers. But the solid achievement in that direction has not been great.

The only really significant advance is the so-called European Payments Union approved last year. This is a system under which monetary barriers between countries are lowered to facilitate a better flow of trade across boundaries.

Beyond that, progress has been limited to the experience in coordinated planning acquired by Marshall plan nations in laying out jointly their recovery needs during the past three years. It is evident that not much is going to be done unless some new element of compulsion or encouragement is brought into the picture.

War or the continuing fear of it could be that factor. To support General Eisenhower's new European defense army, the North Atlantic Treaty Organization has created a unified defense production unit under an American, W. Rogers Herod, head of the International General Electric Corp. The necessities of unified defense might bring the treaty nations together economically in a fashion they'd never consider in normal times.

The size of Eisenhower's forces in the next two years will have much to do with how ambitious a joint economic effort must be made.

If that should not provide a big enough push toward economic integration of Europe, there is another possible approach. Some Americans are suggesting that Europe's economy be integrated not as a distinct unit but as part of a larger sphere that would include the United States and Canada.

The feeling of these men is that national barriers of language, custom, narrow economic self-interest are so strong that the European countries simply won't undertake unity if left to themselves. Woven into what would be an Atlantic economic community, with trading prospects brighter, the Europeans might be much more willing to see the old tariff barriers and other obstacles torn down.

We are Europe's best customer and she is ours, so the trade relationship is a natural one. Brought into this larger economic realm, Europe would more likely modernize its capitalist practices which now are so badly outmoded. (Socialist nations would present a special problem.)

This runs the case for Atlantic economic integration. The merit of the argument hasn't been fully debated, and it needs plenty of airing from all angles.

This nation would have to undergo some striking economic shifts itself to accommodate free trade arrangements with Europe. Some industries would suffer, and a great howl would go up in Congress.

But the least we can do is think about it earnestly, since aside from unity through defense effort, it's the only idea for promoting Europe's integration that has come along in many a day. Something is certainly needed to get the West off its present dead center on the unity issue.

Quit Hoarding Penny Coins, Gov't Asks

IT'S true that a penny will not buy much these days of inflation but the demand for the copper coins is still terrific. In fact, the demand is so great that the government is worried about it.

The manufacture of penny coins requires the use of great quantities of copper, and copper is a strategic metal in short supply. Already stringent restrictions have been placed on its use in order to conserve the supply for the rearmament program.

It is common knowledge that literally billions of copper pennies are laying idle in piggy banks throughout the nation. Uncle Sam is asking the citizenry to quit hoarding them and to put them back into the pipelines of commerce.

It can be done without impairing the habit of thrift. Simply change the pennies in the piggy bank for coins of greater value and turn the pennies into your local bank. That will relieve the pressure for minting more penny coins for commercial use and will save precious copper for other purposes.

Unless this is done, it is probable that further restrictions on the civilian use of copper will be necessary.

Phone Quiz

Men of great responsibility are often rushed for time, and they think that folks who pester them are guilty of a crime. Such may be the case for those who do a big important job, but it doesn't hold for would-be kings who frown upon the mob. Like the guy with secretaries who surround him like a wall, when you telephone his office and you're quizzed about his call.

First you merely say you'd like to do some talking with the boss, and at once you get the third degree which throws you for a loss. What's your name and what's your business, was your call expected now, did you ask for an appointment, what's so urgent anyhow? Please explain just why you think you rate some words with Mister Snoot—when you speak his name be sure that you remember to salute.

So at last you lose your temper and you tell the office gal, she ran go and soak her head, as can her dear employer pal, who is likely not so busy that he can't pick up his phone, for a message which contains some news he'll later wish he'd known. For there's nothing makes you madder than the lady out in front, who will take your call and answer: "Who are you and whatcha want?"

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

FRANKFORT — At the same time that the West Germans want more American troops to protect them against the threat of the Red army, a steady stream of strategic materials is rolling out of Germany to help arm that Red army.

This secret aid to Russia does not represent the real sentiment of the West German people or their new Bonn government. But it does represent the sell-both-sides-down-the-river attitude of the big industrialists. These are the same industrialists who coaxed up to Hitler and made his rearmament possible, also the same industrialists who now want to sabotage the Schuman plan for cooperative operation of the Ruhr iron and steel industry—the most peace-insuring proposal ever made for Europe.

Here are a few examples of how German big business is cutting its country's own throat by aiding the Communists: Up to May 10, 1950, all exports of German machinery were controlled by the Allied high commission. On that date, however, the orders were relaxed and the Bonn government was given export control. Significantly, during the first 21 days after May 10, more ball bearings and more rubber compounds were sent to the Russian satellites than had been smuggled out in the previous five months. Also huge quantities of carbon black, precious nickel, lead, crude iron and big iron were exported—much of it going to Communist Hungary.

SHIPPED TO REDS

These shipments continued in June, totaling twice as much as in May—even though May had set a record and even though the German government had previously agreed to ban these shipments.

Finally, High Commissioner McCloy caught one barefaced shipment of American army trucks to Communist Hungary. Nine thousand surplus trucks had been acquired by Truck and Spare Motor Vehicles Ltd. for $314 each. This was a legitimate sale by STEG, the agency which sells American army surplus. But Truck and Spare Motor Vehicles Ltd. turned around and sold 356 army trucks to Hungary, making the sale with an official O. K. from the German government, despite the fact that this was against the regulations surrounding the sale of U. S. property.

Fortunately, alert American troops on the German border got suspicious and stopped the truck shipment. It never reached Hungary.

"INSURANCE" WITH REDS

Meanwhile, Tell Berna of the National Machine Tool Builders association of Cleveland reports that machine-tool plants in Western Germany, financed by the Marshall plan, are shipping vital machine tools both to Russia and its satellites. "Tanks in North Korea," he said, "may have been made on machine tools produced by ECA money."

In Munich also, the American-published newspaper Neue Zeitung quoted the U. S. high commissioner for Bavaria, George Shuster, on leave as president of Hunter College in New York, that the Ruhr industrialists were taking out insurance with the Communist party and that the coffers of the Communist party were filled with their money.

U. S. officials have now informed the German government that they are distressed by leaks of strategic material to Russia and have called on Chancellor Adenauer to have them stopped.

"SOFT AND SENTIMENTAL"

In the winter of 1945, as the Russian and American armies were advancing toward Berlin, I happened to be talking to Robert Patterson, the undersecretary of war, when he remarked: "I hope the Red army gets there first and executes about 20,000 of Germany's top leaders. If we get there first we'll wait, get soft and sentimental, and then let them go scot free."

The other day the same Bob Patterson came to Germany to carry out his own prediction. He had got soft and sentimental toward the German cartel owners who had armed Hitler and who are now shipping goods covertly to Russia. However, Patterson's sentimentality for German industrialists was also influenced by a fee. He was being paid by them to come to Germany to influence his former subordinate in the war department, John J. McCloy, now high commissioner to Germany, and to undercut the Schuman plan.

Take My Word For It . . . Frank Colby Jr.

WHAT'S THE ORIGIN?

Q. Recently, on my radio, an army surgeon used the word "cosmetic" in connection with plastic surgery to restore the disfigured faces of wounded servicemen. We are greatly puzzled. Was it just a slip of the tongue?

A. It's hard to believe, but the primary and literal meaning of cosmetic is "that which adorns or decorates." The original Greek word, kosmetikos, means "one skilled in adorning." In ancient Rome, the word cosmeses designated, "the slave who has charge of the wardrobe and toilettries of his mistress."

Thus we see that "cosmetics," in the meaning of "make-ups," is only figurative. In medical language, the term cosmetology is used to describe the performing of "cosmetic operations," i. e., restoring scarred or burned areas to normal appearance.

Q. What is the origin of the phrase, "mad as a hatter"? We in this family can think only of the Mad Hatter in Alice in Wonderland. Is that it?

A. "Mad as a hatter" was a popular expression before Lewis Carroll wrote of Alice's adventures in Wonderland, and the expression doubtless suggested the character of the Mad Hatter. That this theory is logical is shown by Carroll's creation of the March Hare, another member of the delightfully insane tea party which Alice attended. The expression, "As mad as a March hare" has been in common use since the 14th century.

Discovery Of Red Arms Caches Airst Revolt In Italian Communist Party

By JULIUS HUMI

NEA Staff Correspondent

ROME—The discovery by the Italian police of large Communist caches of arms throws new light on the operation of the Communist secret military shock troops.

Italy's Minister of the Interior Mario Scelba has long been aware of the widespread undercover activities of the Red underground troops in northern Italy and southern France. Since 1947 he has been on the lookout for their hidden arms dumps.

VALDO MAGNANI: Not so much "Titoism" . . .

The fact that most of the caches are now being discovered backs up reports that the pro-nationalist revolt in the Italian Communist Party is spreading to the Communist secret military organization.

ALDO CUCCHI: as old-fashioned nationalism.

Scelba recently reported to the Italian Chamber of Deputies that between January, 1947, and June, 1950, police had seized the following quantities of Communist war material:

Sixty-six pieces of field artillery; 344 mortars; 1543 heavy machine guns; 2302 light machine guns; 6444 Tommy guns; more than 42,000 rifles; more than 102,000 hand grenades; 244 tons of high explosives; 237 radio transmitting stations, and more than 10,000,000 rounds of ammunition.

The Italian police recently found two more Communist arms dumps. A squad of mine detectors uncovered one in two walled-up rooms of a cellar under the Pirelli rubber works in Milan. The second was in caves on the outskirts of Genoa, where police said they found rifles branded with a Red star.

These arms were apparently earmarked for Albania for use by guerrillas now operating on the Yugoslav and Greek borders.

Meanwhile, the rift in Italian communism caused by the dramatic resignation from the Party of Deputies Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cuccchi, chiefs of the highly industrialized and traditionally Re. Emilio region, is growing. Despite Cominform charges, the revolt seems to be inspired less by "Titoism" than by good, old-fashioned nationalism and love of the country. It also indicates a profound change in the program—if not the structure—of the Cominform.

As in France and elsewhere in Western Europe, a bitter struggle is now going on inside the Italian

Communist Party between a military-minded "direct action" group and a "moderate" group of parliamentarians.

The "direct action" group is led by Moscow-trained Luigi Longo, said to be a Soviet citizen. The "moderate" group is represented, among others, by Valdo Magnani and Aldo Cuccchi.

Though the Red revolt seems to be confined for the present to Communist intellectuals and former anti-fascist partisans, Moscow is obviously worried.

Italy's Red boss, Palmiro Togliatti, just interrupted a "rest-cure" vacation in the Soviet Union to rush to Rome. At the same time, Communist terrorist "Vigilance Committees" are swinging into action throughout Italy to nip the "nationalist contagion" in the bud.

But according to the novelist Ignazio Silone, leader of the anti-Communist Unitarian Socialist Party, approximately 10,000 Communists have quit the Party since the recent resignation of Magnani and Cuccchi.

The Play's The Thing At Stratford on Avon

Against the backdrop of a jittery world, Stratford on Avon is a quiet stage where people of diverse nations still meet in quaint streets, and all the town agrees, "The play's the thing."

In that ancient market town near the heart of England, notes the National Geographic Society, carpenters and masons are now completing a quarter-million-dollar addition to the famed Shakespeare Memorial Theater. On March 24 the footlights go up for the longest festival season in Stratford's history—seven months of the immortal bard's dramas, played in a literary mecca that has no peer.

Until autumn's leaves are down and dead, Stratford on Avon will be a town dedicated to a man it once called ne'er-do-well — "fallen into the bad company of actors." On April 23, the flags of many countries around the globe will be unfurled, honoring the 387th anniversary of Shakespeare's birth. Pilgrims from near and distant lands will form an unceasing summer army, come to see a town little changed since Elizabethan times.

'New Place' on Ancient Streets Bookshops march in mellowed brick along Stratford's narrow historic streets, elbowing for space with inns of diamond-paned windows and houses of blackened timbers, heavy-beamed, with gabled ends and leaning sides.

From the half-timbered house on Henley street where Shakespeare was born to the quiet church where he is buried runs the path trod by a traditional birthday procession carrying flowered wreaths. Here is the house where John Harvard's mother lived, there the school where Shakespeare and Ovid met. Beyond is the site of New Place, home of Shakespeare's retirement, now a garden hard by the ancient white tower of the Guild Chapel.

Stratford on Avon has kept quiet state over a meadowed countryside and placid river since yeomen tilled Warwickshire fields in the time of Richard the Lion-Hearted. Coins of the Caesars have been found along tree-covered lanes evidence that a Roman road may have run near by. The earliest Bishops of Worcester, succeeded by the charitable Guild of the Holy Cross, gave protection to the town until King Edward VI granted its burghers a charter in 1553, eleven years before Shakespeare's birth.

Curtain on the Avon

There have been Shakespearean festivals in the country town since 1769, when the actor David Garrick sponsored a jubilee complete with fireworks and dancing—but no play-acting. London theater companies still laughed at the notion of giving performances "in the sticks." But Stratford on Avon slowly awoke to the fact it had sired a prodigy, and the town's name and fame grew with the years.

In 1879 a theater opened its doors by the river bank, dedicated to giving Shakespeare's plays as a living memorial. The building, modeled after London's early Globe Theater, was an ugly roundhouse of yellow and red. When it burned to the ground in 1926, George Bernard Shaw sent a telegram to the governors: "Congratulations. You must be delighted." But it established a tradition that has lived nearly a century.

America gave more than half of a million-dollar fund for rebuilding the Memorial Theater, and a modern towered structure of brick opened in 1932. Since then thousands of Americans have visited Stratford on Avon, paying homage to a man of England who touched humanity's heart, and who seems to be saying still:

"Let Rome in Tiber melt, and the wide arch Of the rang'd empire fall! Here is my space." (Anthony and Cleopatra).

Good Evening . . .

PAGING MAYOR LOGAN — At last week's Escanaba city council meeting one of the constituents of Mayor Peter N. Logan, listening to the council meeting broadcast, thought there must be skullduggery afoot at the city hall.

Answering the insistent ringing of the telephone, Councilman Robert E. LeMire was questioned by the constituent as to what they meant down there at city hall holding a council meeting when Mayor Logan was absent. Councilman LeMire explained that Mayor Pete was attending another important meeting, could not be at city hall, and that it was right and proper that a council meeting be held with a quorum present and Councilman Guy Knutsen, mayor pro tem, presiding.

Whether the constituent was satisfied with the explanation isn't known. It was one of those situations that develops when council meetings are broadcast—a healthy sign of interest from one listener at least.

Note: Mayor Logan was at the House of Ludington attending a meeting of the Delta County Planning Committee, where discussions were held on topics of county-wide interest.

THE OPEN LETTER—O. L. Raymond of Escanaba, after reading accounts of Theodore F. "Ted" Kessler's woods adventure of last weekend, writes an open letter to Ted:

"Dear Friend: Sorry to hear you were lost in the woods and snowshoed 30 miles to find no way out until you met a lumberjack—and all that time you had a compass in your pocket!

"But if you didn't have a compass, a pocket knife would do. Place the tip of the knife on your thumbnail and there will be a shadow behind it opposite the sun, even if the sun is hidden by clouds. Do this every 8 rods or so or you may get turned around again. Take this advice from an old lumberjack."

NOT SO FUNNY—Ted stopped in at the Daily Press office to pay his respects the same day the letter was received from Raymond. He read it and shook his head.

"I suppose I'll get plenty of kidding from the boys," he observed. "But I can take it if they can stand hearing me tell them the story."

You see, Ted wasn't lost all the time. Not by any means. He reported he came out to the road (icy and untraveled) at least three times and turned back into the woods, convinced he could find the Albert "Ziggy" Olson camp where he had been staying.

THE HELPING VOICE—Except for a couple blisters from the long distance snowshoeing for two days, Ted is none the worse for his experience. He looks hale and hearty and ready for another adventure.

While alone at the Olson camp on the night before his adventure started, Ted said there came into his mind the thought that tomorrow when he went out to cut cedar browse to feed the starving young deer he should wear his jacket. Before this he had worn only a woolen shirt, for the deer yard was only a short distance away.

The next afternoon he did wear the jacket—and without it he would have been in real trouble. The jacket not only kept him warm while he was lost for two nights, but in the pocket was his compass and some matches.

"It makes you wonder when people start talking about the occult," he said. "Something told me to wear that jacket. It was almost as if I could hear a warning voice."

NOT THE FIRST—Ted Kessler is not the first man to become lost in the woods. In his case his friends were not alarmed. They knew him as woodswise and able to take care of himself. He was wearing camp again when overtaken.

We asked him about following the tip always given by the experts: When you are lost sit down and wait until you are found.

"I know," Ted replied, "they say it's like playing solitaire. Haul out a pack of cards and start a game of solitaire—and the first thing you know somebody will look over your shoulder and tell which card to play."

State Cutting Some Timber

Steam Improvement Work Is Planned

Conservation department field crews have ended winter logging near Iron River but will continue at four locations as long as possible to get 500,000 board feet of timber for lake and stream improvement work.

Finished is the salvage of logs, blown down two years ago, on the grounds of the Cooks Run fish rearing station. Crews still are salvaging "blow down" hemlock in the Porcupine Mountains state park.

Jack pine logs are being stockpiled following selective cutting and thinning operations in the Pigeon River, Au Sable and Fife Lake state forests.

Field crews of the department's fish division will switch to tree planting as soon as weather permits. Pine seedlings and willow cuttings will be planted to provide stream shade and control bank erosion.

Building To House State Records Gets Approval In Lansing

LANSING — (P)—A proposal for a $250,000 building to house state records now has the tentative approval of a joint legislative committee.

The state office building committee, created to plan new state building, asked the state building division to draw up plans for the structure.

Rep. Eugene C. Betz (R-Monroe), said the group visualized a low-cost building with at least 20,000 square feet of floor space. If approved, the building probably would be built on low-cost land owned by the state.

One-Man Boats New Shop Project At Grand Marais

GRAND MARAIS—One of the most interesting shop projects in progress at Grand Marais high school at present is construction of a number of one-man boats.

The one-man boat was designed by the shop instructor, Charles Hess, in answer to the students' request for an inexpensive boat to be used for fishing in out of the way lakes far from any highway.

The boats are of light weight construction, styled after the Eskimo's kayak and may easily be carried, portage style, by one boy. They are approximately six feet in length with a wood and plywood case covered by canvas that will be thoroughly waterproofed. At this time there are five of the boats in various stages of construction, two nearing completion.

Influence Ring Of RFC Aired

Director Demands Dropping Of Charges

WASHINGTON — (AP) — RFC Director C. Edward Rowe demanded today that Senate investigators withdraw their charges linking him to an influence ring with alleged White House contacts.

Rowe denied the accusations in a prepared statement to the full-bright subcommittee. His written reply made no mention of sworn testimony that he had tried to make a fellow Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) director "the goat" of the inquiry.

Director Walter L. Dunham had told the subcommittee on March 8 that Rowe urged him to resign his post under circumstances that would make Dunham "the goat" of charges the RFC had yielded to an influence ring in making government loans.

Rowe told the banking subcommittee, headed by Senator Fulbright (D-Ark), he is entitled to a finding "that an exhaustive investigation of my conduct proves I have acted in a perfectly ethical and legal manner."

The subcommittee, in a report to the Senate last month, had made much of Rowe's friendship with men the group aimed as members of an influence ring. It also had cited a loan to a firm in which Rowe is a large stockholder as evidence that he had benefitted from favoritism. The loan was made and paid off not long before Rowe joined the RFC board Oct. 3, 1950.

Another director, Walter E. Cosgriff, in a statement prepared for the subcommittee, declared he has seen no evidence of an influence ring operating around RFC since he took office last Oct. 12. He said he considers the other board members to be "honest and capable" men. The subcommittee has never criticized Cosgriff.

Weekend Traffic Mishaps Fatal To Eight In Michigan

(By The Associated Press)

Eight persons died in Michigan traffic during the weekend, three of them in a head-on crash south of Allegan Sunday night.

No other fatal accidents were reported.

Victims of the Allegan crash were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tagg, about 50, of Allegan, and Robert Sebright, 28, of Hopkins.

The Tagg car with four occupants, and the auto of Sebright, traveling alone, collided on M-89, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Houseworth of Allegan, riding with Tagg, were treated for injuries at the Allegan Health Center.

Thomas E. Taylor, 46, of Lansing, was killed and three others were injured in a two-car collision on US-27 near Lansing Saturday night. The car in which he was riding cut in front of another auto.

Two Detroit pedestrians, Charles Ross and Alvin L. Domine, were crushed to death in downtown Detroit late Friday night when a station wagon was hit by a car and topple over on them.

One Dead, Two Shot In Minefield Fight

CLAY, W. Va. — (AP) — Labor trouble in the northern West Virginia mine fields spilled over into the central part of the state over the weekend, with the killing of one man and the wounding of two others.

Joe Arnold, 29-year-old union sympathizer, was shot to death Saturday night about six miles from here—and nearly 200 miles from his home in Kingwood, in northern Preston county.

Cloyd Uphold, about 38, of Kingwood, and Donald Poland, 34, of Tunnelton, also in Preston county, were hospitalized with gunshot wounds.

Charged With Murder
The shooting occurred in the front lawn of George Burnett Hudson, 57-year-old foreman of the Industrial Coal Co. mine near Kingwood, a non-union mine.

Hudson was arrested at his home, State police Cpl. T. S. Myers said Hudson freely admitted the shooting. He was to be charged with murder today, Myers said.

Preston county, traditionally a non-union holdout, during the past two months has been the scene of vigorous attempts by

Escanaba VA Office May Not Be Closed

AP Special Washington Service
WASHINGTON — (AP)—Several of the 13 veteran administration offices in Michigan originally slated for closing probably will be able to remain open under a change of plans.

The VA announced last year it would close 321 of its 678 field contract offices on April 1, 1951. Economy and a sharply decreased load were given as the reasons.

Protests poured in to the agency and to Congress. Eventually the VA announced that it would shut down only 74 at once and 91 in the fiscal year starting July 1, 1951.

Contact Load Checked
The revised, shorter lists never have been made public because the VA still is trying to work out differences of opinion between it

Lapeer Officers Set For Battle Over Farm Lands

ing past the farm, but many accepted handbills passed out by the neighboring farmers.

The bills told of a meeting on the matter scheduled at Lapeer Friday night.

They also gave the Ziegenhardts' side of the struggle that started back in 1936 when the Mutual insurance firm went bankrupt and the brothers refused to pay $280 assessment. They carried their fight through all the Michigan courts and lost.

Tenants Scared Out
Last year, the farm was sold at auction for $13,000 to Mrs. Grace White, wealthy Lapeer attorney. Despite threats of violence, the three brothers were evicted by Mathews last Tuesday and Mrs. White's tenants moved in. But the new tenants left promptly, saying they were threatened by neighbor farmers.

The Ziegenhardts moved back. Saturday night Mathews paid a second visit to the farm.

"I hear you've decided to give up," he said to Chris and Paul. "No," came the uncompromising answer.

Still, there were some indications of a peaceful settlement. Foundry owner Charles Ferguson of Almont said he already had promises of more than $1,000 for a fund to buy the land back from Mrs. White.

"It would be worth donating some money if violence can be prevented," he said.

Paul Ziegenhardt dismissed the idea as "silly." Mrs. White, however, said she didn't want the money but might be willing to negotiate for another piece of land.

Golf is said to have originated in Holland and to have been fostered in Scotland.

Workers Threatened
Hudson told Myers he had returned home for the weekend from his job near Kingwood and the three men stopped by his house about supper time.

They told him not to return to work, Myers said Hudson told him, then they threatened him and his family.

Hudson went into the house, got a pistol and shotgun and returned to the front yard, Myers said he was told. Then the shooting started.

For about eight weeks, union sympathizers have been patrolling the roads in the county in cars, trying to discourage operations at non-union mines. There have been several instances of stoning cars and buses transporting miners to and from these pits, although no one was reported seriously injured.

Mrs. Heldmann Still In Serious Shape

and the budget bureau on the subject.

On the original list of 321 were these Michigan offices: Battle Creek, Escanaba, Flint, Grand Rapids, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Marquette, Muskegon Heights, St. Joseph, Saginaw, Sault Ste. Marie and Traverse City.

Which of these will survive will not be known until the VA and budget bureau compose their differences and announce the new lists.

According to the Senate expenditures committee, which has made a report on the subject, the VA at one time held the view that offices with work loads of less than 300 contacts a month should be closed.

Under this rule, seven of the Michigan offices would survive. They are (with the average number of contacts a month in the period from October, 1950, through January, 1951):

Flint 772, Grand Rapids 602, Lansing 429, Battle Creek 395, Kalamazoo 381, Jackson 244, Saginaw 330.

Some of the other six might be allowed to stay open under the theory there should be some offices in sparsely settled areas even though the work loads are small.

Annual Cost $10,600
The average number of monthly contacts in the six smaller Michigan offices was: Sault Ste. Marie 289, Traverse City 271, Muskegon Heights 262, Escanaba 246, St. Joseph 227, Marquette 195.

The Senate report gave these figures for the annual costs of the 13 Michigan offices (including salaries for two contact men in each office and rent):

Battle Creek $8,585, Escanaba $10,600, Flint $9,685, Grand Rapids $12,225, Jackson $8,540, Kalamazoo $9,725, Lansing $7,865, Muskegon Heights, $8,765, St. Joseph $9,137, Saginaw $10,865, Sault Ste. Marie $7,865, Traverse City $8,585.

In most cases, these compare favorably with costs in nearby states.

If all 13 of the Michigan offices under consideration were shut down, veterans would have to deal with offices in Detroit, Fort Custer or Iron Mountain.

Stephenson Avenue Railroad Crossing Scene Of Accidents

The Stephenson avenue railroad crossing was the scene of two accidents Sunday afternoon, police records indicate.

No one was injured in the collisions and damage to the five autos involved was minor.

The first occurred at 2:30 p. m. Sunday when a car driven by John R. Beauchamp of 1224 South 11th avenue hit the rear of an auto driven by Mrs. William Couillard, 1506 1/2 North 16th street, which was stopped for a train. The front end of the Beauchamp car and the rear of the Couillard auto were damaged.

The second, involving three cars, occurred at 3:05 p. m. A car operated by William L. O'Hern, 324 South 10th street, hit the rear of a car driven by Ronald H. Bennett, 2224 Lake Shore drive, which in turn hit a car operated by Rose Rodman Dawson, 1701 South Ninth avenue. The Bennett and Dawson cars, stopped for a train, were damaged.

Other accidents reported to police during the weekend were as follows:

Collision of cars driven by John K. Trombley of Gladstone, Route One, and Robert St. Vincent of Norway at 3:50 p. m. Saturday at 14th and Ludington streets; damage of a car owned by Louis J. DeGrand, 1811 Fifth avenue south, at 5 p. m. Sunday when hit by the St. Joseph Booster club bus, driven by Peter Jaeger, 406 South 16th street, in the 300 block of South Eighth street; hitting of a parked car operated by Fred Pollack Saturday afternoon in the 600 block of Ludington street, by a car driven by August Schultz of LaBranchette, and collision of cars operated by Robert J. Bebeau, 321 South Seventh street, and Mrs. Rose Johnson, Escanaba, Route One, at Eighth street and Third avenue south Saturday afternoon. No arrests were made in any of the accidents.

Small Planes Collide In Mock Dogfight; Four Persons Killed

SELMA, N. C. — (AP)—Two small private planes staging a mock dogfight collided about two miles from Selma airport yesterday. All four persons in the planes were killed.

The dead were Bradley Sasser, about 30, operator of the Selma airport and the pilot of one plane, and his passenger, Everett Wadell Park, 28, a Micro farmer; Franch D. Creech, Jr., of Selma, 20, pilot of the other plane, and Irvin B. Sullivan, 20, of Selma, a farmer.

Stacy Kennedy, who witnessed the crash said one plane dived at the other, couldn't pull out, and they collided and locked together. "Part of the wings came off each plane," he said, "and one plane took fire. Then they crashed."

Holding Line Near 38th Parallel On Korean War Front

Now, the U. N. was rolling northward once more, in search of withdrawing Chinese and Red North Korean forces.

Trenches Abandoned
Whether the U. N. would drive back across 38 was a knotty problem before the world's diplomatic and military leaders.

The Chinese appeared to have given up their last main military base south of the parallel—Chuncheon, eight miles below the line in Central Korea.

Reports to Eighth Army headquarters also indicated the Reds had abandoned well-prepared defenses along the Hongcheon river, south of Chuncheon.

The Eighth army said Monday mid-afternoon there had been no contact worthy of the name with Reds in 72 hours.

But there was flashing air action. Twenty-four F-80 Shooting Stars, flying under cover of 12 F-86 Sabre Jets, firebombed, rocketed and strafed the airfield at Sinuiju on the Yalu river boundary between Manchuria and Korea. The attack was within sight of the Red air base at Antung, just across the river in Manchuria.

Rail Targets Blasted
Several Russian-made Mig-15 Jets took off from the Antung airfield but did not attack the American planes.

Twelve more F-80s joined the flight attacking Sinuiju. The 36 Shooting Stars then pounded rail targets near Sinuiju and Huichon and destroyed three locomotives and 50 railroad cars.

U. S. Far East air forces B-29s dropped 220 tons of bombs Sunday on Hungnam, port of evacuation for allied troops last December.

The Superforts piled 150 tons of explosives Monday on a Red supply center nine miles northwest of the east coast port of Wonsan.

Wonsan itself was bombed by the U. S. Battleship Missouri. It was the 31st consecutive day Wonsan had been shelled.

An undisclosed number of Communist planes dropped flares for the second successive night Sunday over American positions near Hongcheon on the central front.

The flares lit up targets for Communist artillery and mortar barrages.

Training Camp Briefs

TAMPA, Fla. — (AP)—He homered, but you still never saw an angrier guy than Boston's Ted Williams after he struck out twice in one inning yesterday.

Fanning Williams was one of the few pleasures that Cincinnati Pitcher Eddie Erault got out of the exhibition at the Redleg training camp here—even though the Reds won 15-12.

Erault lasted only one inning as the Sockers clipped him for seven runs. Temperamental Ted seemed to be the only batsman Erault could do anything with in that seventh inning.

WHY STALIN WANTS IRAN

Action of Iran's parliament in voting unanimously for government seizure of the nation's British-owned oil industry is considered a great triumph for the pro-Russian faction. The $582,000,000 Anglo-Iran Oil Company controls all Iran's oil wells and sells the output only to Western and pro-Western nations. Map above shows why the Kremlin wants not only Iranian oil (6.02 per cent of world output) but also seeks to bring the country into its orbit because of its strategic location.

Bureaucrats Hamper VA Medical Service

MARQUIS CHILDS
WASHINGTON — Quietly and effectively without benefit of sensational headlines an investigation has gone forward here that would produce greater good than more publicized spectacles. It is the inquiry conducted by Senator Hubert Humphrey of Minnesota into the medical policies of Veterans administration. So much has gone awry here as regards administration have happened that events with tragic implications occur and yet are hardly more than noted in the news. That implies to the recent action of Veterans Administrator L. Gray in removing Dr. Paul Magnuson as VA medical director.

new have realized that thus one stroke a major gain achieved only after the most painful and difficult effort was wiped out. That this is no small matter is shown by the ever increasing population of the VA hospitals and the constant pressure on Congress to provide more.

98,961 Veterans Confined
In February 20 there were 61 veterans in veterans hospitals and 8,092 in non-veteran hospitals. Of the nearly 99,000, 45,000 are psychotics, that is, say mental cases, which says a lot for the terrible toll that war has taken. Nearly 20,000 veterans, out of 135 of them suffering from disabilities that have no direct connection with war, are waiting to get into veterans' hospitals. The irony in what has just happened is that President Truman, himself, gave the original go signal for much-needed reforms in the VA. The president has boundless admiration for the courage and honesty of his fellow Missourian, General Omar N. Bradley. When Bradley came home at the end of the war, Mr. Truman asked him to take a very tough, disagreeable and probably thankless assignment. The veterans administration had deteriorated and especially on the medical service side. Veterans' organizations with their great political pull had virtually taken over the direction of the hospitals. Their officers demanded and in many instances got special privileges.

Bureaucrats Curb Medics
But more serious was the isolation of the VA medical service from the whole stream of research and progress in modern medicine. Underpaid doctors worked in a bureaucratic dead end. The few good men who stayed in the service did so out of a sense of duty.

With full authority from the President to proceed without regard to politics of any kind, Bradley went ahead with one of the hardest tasks in a career that has not been noted for its softness and ease. He had Major General Paul R. Hawley as director of medical services. Cooperating also was Dr. Magnuson, one of the country's leading physicians with wide contacts with medical research throughout the country. This was the team that shook up the old moribund bureaucracy and brought modern medical practices to the VA hospitals. Bradley recognized that the medical director should have independence of action in his field. But his successor as VA administrator, Carl Gray, did not see it that way. While Gray made Magnuson chief of medical service, friction grew up between them over decisions that Magnuson felt were properly in his province. The climax came when the administrator fired Magnuson and replaced him with Admiral Joel T. Boone out of the navy. Boone was physician to Presidents Harding, Coolidge and Hoover.

Magnuson Praised
In the course of the closed hearings conducted by Senator Humphrey, General Hawley gave a remarkable statement praising Magnuson and strongly urging that the medical director be given independent status. This was the testimony of all the experts. Unfortunately, most of the Veterans' organizations sided with Gray in the intervening period, of course, they have not had the same commanding position as they held prior to the reforms initiated by Bradley.

When he ended the hearings, Humphrey declared that VA medical services must be free from any outside interference. The medical director must have a clear line of control under the general supervision of the administrator. This was a complete vindication for Dr. Magnuson.

But what can be done to get it is something else. Humphrey hopes that Gray will issue an order giving the medical service autonomy. This would presumably protect the cooperative relationship built up by Magnuson with the deans of leading American medical schools. But legislation specifically providing for an independent service is the only real safeguard.

Neither move will bring back to public service a man who had given much out of a sense of duty. Such losses are irreplaceable and they are rapidly adding up to a dangerous erosion in government.

The Way To Calvary

Before Pilate delivered Jesus to be crucified, the Nazarene was taken to be scourged by the soldiers of the governor. Tied to a pillar, He was given forty lashes. It was a murderous punishment and left Him barely able to stand.

Then He was crowned with thorns. The soldiers plaited a crown of coarse thorns and pressed it on His brow. Putting a purple cloak on His shoulders, and a reed in His hand for a scepter, they knelt to Him and mocked Him as a king.

Finally restoring His own garments, the soldiers led Him up to the street where He was forced to kneel, and a crude, heavy wooden cross was placed on His shoulder. The journey to Calvary began.

These classes have increased in attendance at the last session, March 12. Classes will be resumed again Easter Monday night, March 26, and it is to be hoped that this excellent attendance will continue.

Parents' Secret Battles Encourage Child's Deceit

By MURIEL LAWRENCE

Like most fathers, Jack's father meant well. When Jack disobeyed, his father docked his allowance.

"You have to pay for doing wrong," he would say.

Jack's mother meant well, too. But she resented the fact she had to run the home on a small household budget. So when Jack's allowance was cut, she sympathized with him, and would slip him some change on the side.

"Your father is a stingy man," she would say. "Why wouldn't I help you? We're both in the same boat . . ."

When Jack was 13, he was picked up for stealing money from his school mates' lockers.

His father and mother couldn't believe it. They were shocked and bewildered. If they had been told that they were responsible for Jack's trouble, they wouldn't have believed that either. Neither of them had any idea that they had used their child as a weapon to hurt and defy each other.

An occasional disagreement between a father and mother over discipline of their youngster is to be expected. But when these disagreements occur too often, they can indicate that other and deeper conflicts exist within the parents' marriage itself.

Don't Pretend A Split Isn't There

When our marriage suffers from such serious splits it is better to acknowledge that they exist, than to pretend they aren't there. If we are not ready to try and solve the cleavages, we should know that, too. It is by facing these two facts that we can protect our child from hurt. He is bound to suffer when his parents are involved in a secret battle.

Such secret battles encourage just the kind of secret alliance Jack's mother made with him against his father.

It was the secrecy of the battle and the alliance that gave Jack his training in deceit.

None of us can always agree with the decisions made by our marriage partner for our child. But we can try to avoid involving our youngster in our feelings of resentment about that decision. He will be only too quick to turn a carelessly critical or disparaging remark into a split of parental authority that he can use to his own advantage.

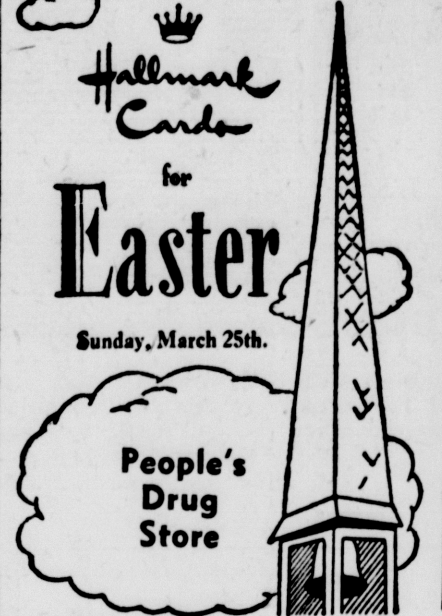

Failure to present a united front of authority can create confusions in children that follow them into life.

You'd be surprised what an honest desire to present such a united front can do toward making it a fact. For that desire, genuinely felt, is the spur we may need to encourage us to win a better and happier understanding between our marriage partners and ourselves.

In winning it, we may regain a husband or wife as well as our child's security.

Second grade (test author's norm 2.5): Central, 3; Lakeside, 3.1; Lincoln, 2.4.

The elementary scholarship achievement results for fifth, sixth seventh and eighth grades also revealed variations from the test author's norm, some grades exceeding the score and others falling short.

Results follow:

Elementary Scores

Fifth grade elementary science (test author's norm 24): Lincoln, 29; Central, 29; Lakeside, 28.5.

High School Results

The Every Pupil Scholarship tests were given to ninth, tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade students in vocabulary, English, Latin, geometry and United States history.

The scored results presented by the superintendent were divided into upper quartiles, median groups and lower quartiles, with a separate author's norm for each classification.

Only in vocabulary and geometry did any of the class divisions exceed the author's normal score: in all others the classes fell short of the score set by the author.

The lower quartile of the ninth, tenth and eleventh grades exceeded or equaled the author's norm in vocabulary. The median score of the ninth, tenth and twelfth grades also surpassed or equaled the author's figure in vocabulary.

The lower quartile in tenth grade geometry exceeded the author's score of 52 by 2.

Shamrocks, Norway Five Capture Cage Tournament

The Escanaba Shamrocks and the Norway Benzes.

Mark them down in your book as champions of the 1951 Upper Peninsula independent basketball tournament held last weekend in Escanaba. The Shamrocks, with the addition of Jack Miron and Al Alessandrini but without Tom St. Germain, outlasted their city foe, Kesslers, 42-39, Saturday night to capture the class A title.

The Norway crew, paced by Wayne Nystrom's 19 points and Bill Nystrom's 13 points, defeated a potent Manistique Chev outfit, 49-44.

Look What Day!

"Top dogs" of the Shamrocks, who won their title appropriately enough on St. Patrick's day, were Ed Gauthier and Bob Anderson with 10 points each and Miron with eight.

Kesslers were led by Don Lewis with 12, Roy Johnson with 10 and Jim Kessler with nine.

The Shamrocks built up a 22-13 lead at half-time and it stood them in good stead because Kesslers scored 26 points in the last half to 20 for the Shamrocks.

In the class B final, Norway took a 29-21 halftime lead but Manistique whittled four points off in the third period. In the last frame, however, Norway outscored the Schoolcrafters by one point. Dick Burns and Jerry Anderson, two erstwhile Manistique high school stars, were the big guns of the Chev attack, scoring 16 and 14 points respectively.

Many Trophies

The Joe Rodman Memorial Trophy, a memorial to the late Joseph G. Rodman, founder of the tournament, again will be offered to the outstanding player of the meet.

Glenn Fleetwood, tourney manager, said the trophy is a "fitting tribute to one of the outstanding sportsman of the area whose promotion efforts and sportsmanship will never be forgotten as long as there is a Hermansville Gold Medal Tournament."

Bob Ranguette of Tom Swift's Bar, Bark River, won the first Rodman cup in 1947. Tom Dufour won the award in 1948 with the Escanaba Delta Hardware; "Chic" Gerrish of the Soo Merchants won the cup in 1949; and last year Harold Trewhalla of the Negaunee Beau Chateaus won the Rodman award.

In addition to the Rodman trophy, the first and second place winners in each class will be awarded trophies.

There will be a trophy for the outstanding player of each division.

The Glenn Fleetwood Sportsman trophy will be presented to the outstanding player displaying sportsmanship.

A new award this year is the Marvis A. Fedrizzi trophy, honoring the former Iron River athlete who was killed in an automobile accident enroute home from the tourney last year. This award will go to the player who garners the most points in the tournament. The Fedrizzi trophy is sponsored by Anthony Kobasic of Hermansville.

Spilling The Dope

By Charlie Larson

From one sweat shop to another... back at the office after a week in bed with the flu... question is: Which is worse?... both give you plenty of headaches.

A lot of things can happen in a week... let's look at some of them... for instance, the fold-up of the Northern Michigan Wisconsin hockey league on a sour note... the only surprise here is that the league lasted the year out... it was poorly constituted and administered.

Victory of Brimley at Lansing for the second consecutive year... congratulations to Karl Parker, Leo Pinal and the Brimley boys for carrying the U. P. banner to victory again... shows the doubting Thomases below the straits that the U. P. is no pushover.

Four calls from lower Michigan coaches and friends asking us for scouting reports on Marquette and Loretto of the Co... apparently Frank Fazi's reputation had preceded him "down below"... the Loretto ace made only 13 points against Boyne City.

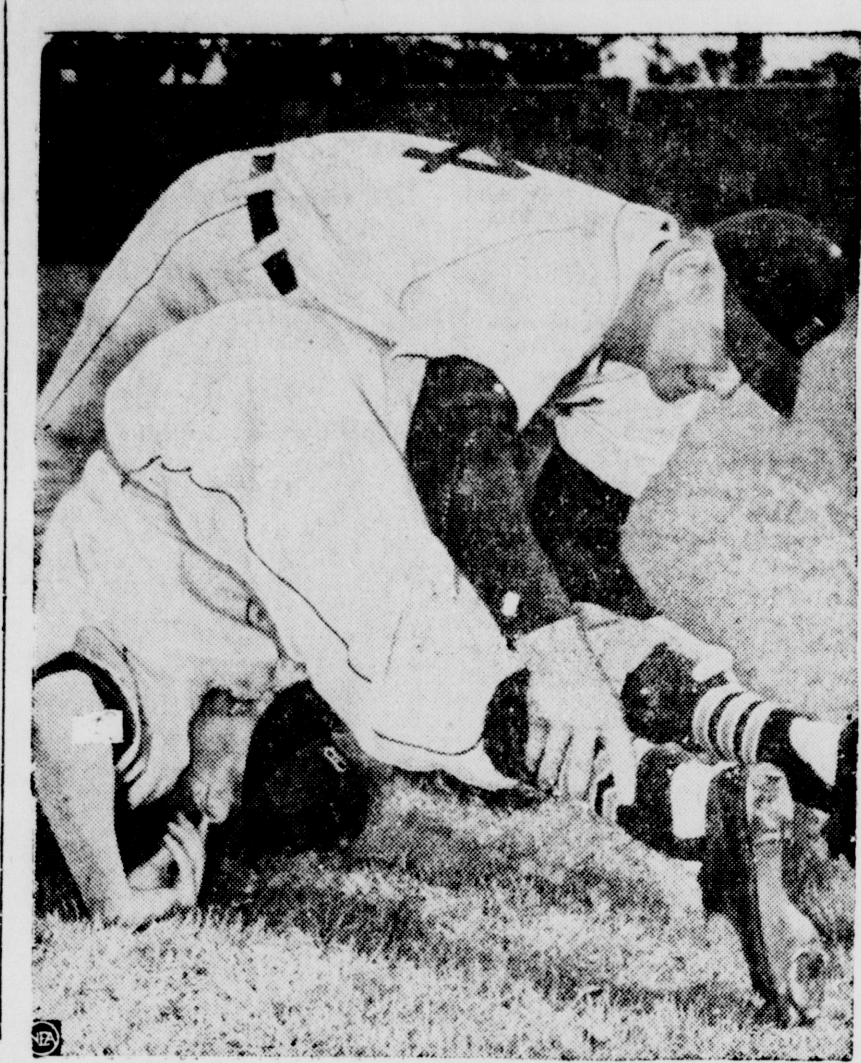

Incidentally, those lower Michigan coaches wouldn't think we knew too much about basketball if they noticed how we came out on predictions in the regionals... we finished 100 per cent... wrong!... we're still trying to figure out what happened to the Nahma team against Michigamme.

Congratulations to the St. Joe fans who helped send the Trojans to Minneapolis to see the Lakers play... they're a swell bunch of boys and deserve the trip... if they had all been "ship-shape" they'd have made mincemeat out of Soo Loretto in the U. P. finals.

Coaching changes already starting... Pete Fusi, crack Michigan State lineman, goes to Bessemer... Dutch Cummings quits at Kingsford after a stormy career... no successor named... we kidded Cappy Keil at the Marquette tournament that we heard this was his last season... "Nope," says Cappy... "we don't have much left for next year... I can't quit until I have something to leave an incoming coach."

We've heard other rumors (and they all may be rumors) involving possible job changes by Babe Anderson at Nahma (maybe there won't be any Nahma next year!), John Hicks at Trenary, Zig, Sheski at Powers, Harold Titus at Menominee, among others.

Sorry we had to miss the Escanaba invitational basketball tournament... hear the competition was tough and plenty of fine basketball was played... another feather in the cap of Paul Vardigan and the boys.

Brimley Makes Runaway Of State Final

EAST LANSING—(P)—They're the toast of high school basketball circles in this state today.

1—Kalamazoo Central, the 1951 Class A king and only team to win three straight "A" titles in the history of the state high school basketball tournament.

2—St. Joseph, the new Class B champion that now holds five championships.

3—Detroit St. Andrew, C titlist and first Detroit quintet to win a state title since St. Theresa made the grade in 1941.

4—Brimley, Class D winner last year and this and one of the finest teams to come out of the Upper Peninsula in years.

That slick quartet won its new laurels in Michigan State college's Jenison field house Saturday night in the frenzied windup of the huge three-week state cage tournament that has dominated the prep sports scene for 26 years. More than 20,000 screaming fans jammed their way into the big field house that was a din of cheering, organized and unorganized, band music, cow bells and horns.

Easy For Brimley

Kalamazoo and St. Joseph were extended to beat out Highland Park and River Rouge. But the classy St. Andrew and Brimley quintets made it in a walk. In fact, Brimley's smart-looking boys beat Dimondale, the Class

D finalist by a 74-31 count, a record output that erased the 64 points put on the record book last year by Kalamazoo Central and East Grand Rapids.

The Class D championship brought Karl Parker's polished

Brimley outfit its second championship with a machine-like 74-31 win over Dimondale.

Jim Mills, the agile Brimley forward, and center Dick Weston were the big guns with 22 and 19 points. The Bays outmaneuvered Dimondale from the start and led 40-13 at the half. Ken Burns, Dimondale forward was the only man to score for the losers in the first half and wound up with 15 points as he fouled out at the end of the third period.

Give Maroons Scare

Highland Park gave the Kalamazoo giants a surprisingly stubborn scrap but the Maroon height and scoring accuracy told in the final minutes.

Dave Parks, Highland Park center turned in a great first half performance, totaling big Ron Jackson to five points while making 14 points himself.

Central trailed 26-25 at half-time but established a lead after the half that went from two to eight points but stubborn Highland Park cut it to 45-43 with two minutes remaining. Jackson, high with 17 points, and Jim Bishop each scored and Bob Parks added a free throw to overbalance Joe Carlson's two final Highland Park baskets for the win.

Close Finish

St. Joseph, a rugged Big Seven loop entry, outfought the River Rouge Twin Valley champions all the way but could never get far out in front. Leading 35-33, St. Joe made its fifth Class B title when players from both sides missed free throws and John Gersonde and Bert Graham each scored. Graham led the winning Bears with 12 points. Bill Finley paced Rouge with 11.

St. Andrew made its championship debut with a bang. Operating smoothly around the fine team work of guard Jerry Olesko and forward Frank Tanana, the Detroit club moved out almost at will against Marlette. Olesko scored 18 points and Tanana 16. Tanana's production brought his nine-game tournament total to 214 points.

Center Jerry Shackelford, the usually high scoring Marlette ace, was held to seven points.

Wings Capture Third Hockey League Title

CHICAGO—(P)—The Detroit Red Wings are regular season champions of the National Hockey League for the third straight season.

Besides that, their ace right-winger, Gordie Howe, has a new league scoring mark.

The Red Wings clinched first place with two victories over the last-place Chicago Black Hawks, 8-2 in Detroit Saturday night and 4-3 in Chicago Sunday night.

Howe picked up four goals and one assist in the two meetings to boost his season's total to 42 goals and 44 assists—84 points, which is two better than the record set by Herbie Cain of Boston in 1943-44.

George Gee, formerly a Blackhawk, also scored two goals last night, including the one that gave Detroit the victory.

Three times the last-place Chicagoans, who have now dropped ten straight, tied the score. But the Wings came back every time. Montreal, just about counted

Hawks Wind Up Season; Beat Marquette By 11-7

In one of the fastest and most interesting games played here all season, the Escanaba Hawks turned the heat on in the third period to trim the Marquette Sentinels, 11-7, before 350 fans at fairgrounds rink yesterday afternoon.

With this triumph, the Hawks closed their first season in Northern Wisconsin-Michigan league play. Previously, they had qualified for a championship playoff spot by beating out Marquette, a veteran team in NWM warfare, and the victory yesterday proved it was no fluke.

Marquette and Escanaba have met seven times this season, and the Hawks have won five of them.

The NWM rivals played to a 3-3 deadlock in the first period, and with ace playmaker, Marc Olson, getting a second period "hat trick", Escanaba edged into a 7-6 lead going into the final 20 minutes of play.

Vasseau Gels Four

Johnny Vasseau, who collected four goals in all, popped in two and his center linemate, Roy Olson, banged in one to give Marquette a 3-1 lead with only a minute left to play in the first period.

But in less than a minute Marc and Ted Olson closed the gap to 3-2. Then Buddy Provo, an Escanaba high school student, took a pass from Marc and beat the Marquette goalie to tie it at 3-3 with only 15 seconds remaining in the first period.

Harold Sampson of Escanaba got the "hat trick" in penalties, one in each period for holding, cross checking and boarding, respectively. Referee Mel Bertrand dished out only two other penalties, one to Weldon Olson for cross checking and to Richie Marlowe for high sticking.

Olsons Are Hot

The Olson brothers, backbone of the Hawk team in their first season in fast hockey, finished the season in a blaze of glory.

Marc, one of the best centers in Upper Michigan, rapped in five goals and three assists. And big Ted used his hard, tricky shot to good advantage for three goals and four assists.

Walt Bechtold, Guy Poca and Provo got the other Escanaba goals, one each. In addition to his goal that tied it up at 6-6 in the second period, Poca racked up three assists.

A feature of the game was the performance of five Olson brothers. Marc and Ted sparked the Escanabans, and Gordon, Roy and Weldon were luminaries in the Marquette lineup.

The Escanaba Hockey association is planning a dinner party for the players this week to show its appreciation for the way the squad has stuck together all season.

ROLFE UPSET By Failure Of Hitters

LAKE LAND, Fla.—(P)—"This is awful."

When Manager Red Rolfe said that, his big gripe was all with the Tigers' batting attack—rather the lack of any attack in spring training games.

That's why he scheduled batting practice for his Tigers all day today. For the first time in eight days no game was on tap.

Yesterday Detroit lost its fourth straight game as the Boston Braves pushed across a ninth-inning run for a 3-2 win.

In three of those four games the Rolfe men punched out only 13 hits.

Johnny Lipon, Don Kolloway, and George Kell provided the only hits. Lipon rapped a double and a single, Kolloway two singles, and Kell a double.

Hoelt Looks Good

The doubles came in the second and seventh innings and each one drove in a Detroit run. Meanwhile Boston hacked away at rookie Bill Hoelt and Ray Herbert for runs in the first, fourth, and ninth.

Hoelt, the kid who made a no-hit debut in a short appearance recently, looked good. He gave up three hits in his four innings, walked only one, and fanned two.

The Braves' Roy Hartsfield, first batter to face Hoelt, poled a long home run.

The winning run was scored off Herbert, who gave up four hits in his five innings. Earl Torgeson reached second on a blooper that fell off Johnny Lipon's glove in short left field. Ebba St. Claire drove him in.

Like Hoelt, Herbert looked good.

Menard, Kvam Out For Ferris Nine

Two young Escanaba students in the Ferris Institute college of pharmacy at Big Rapids have reported for baseball to Coach Frank Karas, a former Escanaba athletic star.

Because of continued cold, practice has been in the Ferris gymnasium but Karas hopes to get his boys out of doors by April 1. Thirty five prospects already have signed up.

Trying out from Escanaba are Donald C. Kvam, catcher and Raymond Menard, pitcher. Menard pitched for Bark River in the Tri-County league.

The schedule includes: April 12 at Alma college; April 19 at Calvin college in Grand Rapids; April 23: Alma at Ferris; April 26, at Aquinas in Grand Rapids; April 30, Calvin at Ferris; May 2, Central at Mt. Pleasant; May 3, at Grand Rapids Junior; May 7, Aquinas, at Ferris; May 9, Grand Rapids Junior, at Big Rapids and May 15, Central at Big Rapids.

MUNISING—Manistique high school served warning to Gre. Lakes conference schools here Saturday night that it has some good basketball material coming up.

The Schoolcraft school won the Great Lakes conference reserve team tournament by noising out rugged Ishpeming crew, 42-41, a thriller Saturday night at Mather gym.

Paul Hinkson and Warren Watson led the Manistique attack with 14 and 11 points, respectively.

The team is coached by Dick Berger. It entered the finals by defeating the Soo, 51-46, Friday night while Ishpeming was taking Marquette, 50-41. In Thursday night games, Manistique defeated Negaunee and Marquette eliminated Munising.

Army Wants 30,000 WACS To Relieve Soldiers For Front

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The army is looking for 30,000 women recruits to take over jobs that are keeping male soldiers from the battlefield and the training field.

Col. Mary Hallaren, director of WAC, (Women's Army Corps), says: "We don't have near enough WACS to meet the need."

For one thing, she said, Gen. Edward H. Brooks, army deputy chief of staff in charge of personnel, expressed concern over the number of soldiers driving staff cars in Washington.

He thought they should be going a man's job in Korea, Col. Hallaren recalled. She lined up 130 WAC drivers.

Women soldiers also are wanted overseas and to fill office jobs in training centers.

Secretary of Defense Marshall has asked Congress to change the law that limits the WACS to two per cent of the total army strength.

Soaring Prices Jolt Great Middle Class

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—Well, sir, it's been about six or seven weeks now since the boys blew into Washington on their price fixing kick, and all I know is that it cost me a buck-and-a-quarter to get a neck trim in Minneapolis last week. Not counting tip.

The cost of everyday, non-luxurious chow is up again from five to ten per cent since the great brains took over, to stave off disastrous inflation and keep the currency tethered to some semblance of worth. In New York, at least, we are facing a rent tilt up to 15 per cent.

Where is all the fine talk about stabilization of prices and "holding the line," I believe it's called? Who is holding what line? Who is controlling what? And the answer is a loud, clear cuss word.

It is hard to believe that the stupidity of Washington leadership is so great that they credit the country with equal stupidity, but I am also inclined to believe that they think we believe them when they sound off with proud talk which signifies exactly nothing. What is all this foolishness about the new names and faces when exactly zero gets done? You're kidding a housewife on a budget?
